Prior Youth Café topics have included learning the personality and character of others for effectively dealing with peer pressure; how to discover their purpose in life, the importance of creating a Portfolio, how to use their creativity to speak to the issues that matter most to them and understanding the importance of building and sustaining good credit.

While attending the Youth Café, young people interact with their peers from across the Commonwealth and learn about youth civic, volunteer, and outreach efforts being undertaken while also interacting with adult peers currently in leadership roles. Registration is required and consent forms signed by both parents and youth attendees are mandatory. Check with your school as it may be possible school credit may be available for attending the conference as a homework or civic assignment. We hope both youth and adults will consider joining us as we work together in realizing that the future of Virginia lies in the success of our neighborhoods.

Fellow Virginians,

Welcome to Virginia Beach! And thank you for choosing our city to host the Virginia Statewide Neighborhood Conference.

Virginia Beach is a city of superb, diverse neighborhoods. Some are old (drive around Old Beach near the resort), some are new (check out Town Center, our newest and most urban neighborhood), some are historic (Seatack, one of the oldest African American neighborhoods in America), many are quiet and suburban, and some are unique and fun (have you seen the houses on stilts in Sandbridge yet?).

One thing that all our neighborhoods – and yours – have in common: They don't stay nice without the active involvement of residents.

It's people that make great neighborhoods. City and county governments can do only so much. Without far-sighted and persistent leaders like you, a neighborhood is just a collection of homes. Here in Virginia Beach, we love to partner with our neighbors and civic leagues, working together to keep Virginia Beach a great place to live.

Learn a lot here this week – then take it back to your towns and cities. It takes hard work from people like you to make Virginia the greatest state in the nation!

While you're here in Virginia Beach, I hope you'll enjoy all that our wonderful city has to offer. Drive down to the Oceanfront and stroll the boardwalk. Visit the Virginia Aquarium – one of the finest in the nation. Find some great food at restaurants here on the Chesapeake Bay, at the Oceanfront and at Town Center. Take in an exhibit at the Virginia Museum of Contemporary Art. Or, if you love nature, hike the trails at First Landing State Park or Back Bay National Wildlife Refuge.

I think you'll like our lifestyle. I know you'll learn a lot.

Welcome!

Dear Friends:

It is indeed a pleasure for me to extend a most cordial welcome on behalf of the City of Virginia Beach. You have made a good choice in selecting Virginia Beach as the site of your conference, "Neighborhoods: Sailing to New Horizons", and September is a wonderful time to be in our City.

As one of the safest cities of its size in America, Virginia Beach offers an abundance of cultural and recreational opportunities and immediate access to quality Oceanfront establishments. The Virginia Museum of Contemporary Art has a marvelous collection of art of our time and offers exhibitions and outdoor art shows. And, don't forget the events down at the oceanfront.

Town Center is our downtown where you will find many wonderful restaurants, shops, and activities to fill your days and evenings.

We also have excellent parks, such as Red Wing Park, and recreational facilities. We are especially proud of the Virginia Aquarium, which combines hands-on exhibits with over 100,000 gallons of aquariums along with miles and miles of beautiful beaches and scenic waterways.

Our modern city also has a rich historical past. In Virginia Beach, you can sightsee at locations that date back to our nation's birth. All of this, together, makes this a truly great place in which to hold a memorable family reunion.

We are delighted that you have selected our community for your conference, and I encourage you to experience one of the finest cities in the nation during your free time.

Sincerely,

William D. Sessoms, Jr.
